Missouri Western State University's Center for Workforce Development is the premier training facility in the region! Why is that? Because we've committed to offering the most relevant, rigorous, and hands-on programming for any industry. Programming includes manufacturing, healthcare, A.I., I.T., professional certifications, leadership, and targeted training created for businesses when we don't already offer what you need. Discover training for professionals, taught by experts still working within their industry.

Within the Center for Workforce Development is the Missouri Small Business Development Center offering complimentary business advice for students and community members throughout a nine county area. Services offered to businesses include assistance with: starting, growing, finding appropriate financing, business plans, market research, and buying and selling a business.
