Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) is the largest officer-producing organization with the American military. Missouri Western State University's Department of Military Science administers the program, also known as the "Pony Express Battalion." Traditional four-year baccalaureate-degree and graduate student aspirants may qualify for a commission as an officer by completing military science courses. These courses may count as elective courses or as a supplement. Various leader developmental exercises are conducted to further enrich the student's appreciation of national defense in its broadest sense and to develop leadership and managerial skills. Students should anticipate conducting five weeks of paid military-related leadership training at Fort Knox, KY (Basic Camp and Advanced Camp).

The United States Army commissions officers as 2nd Lieutenants who complete either the two-year or four-year ROTC program and earn a baccalaureate or graduate degree from MWSU. Currently, a college graduate who is commissioned through ROTC is placed on active duty (full-time) or reserve duty with the US Army Reserves or National Guard (part-time), depending on his or her desires and on the needs of the service at the time of graduation.

The Military Science Department offers both "non-commissioning" and "commissioning" programs.

ROTC Non-Commissioning Program (Basic Program)

This program consists of select 100- and 200-level courses, and is open to all students. Students are not required to contract with the US Army to take these courses. Students may take these Military Science courses as electives or, if pursuing the Commissioning Program, apply them towards the Four-Year ROTC Program. This program is geared toward those students who choose to learn leadership skills as seen through the lens of US Army Officers and small unit leadership, or who desire to know more about the US Army in general.

ROTC Commissioning Programs (Advanced Program)

Four-Year ROTC Program

This leadership program consists of 34 credit hours of military science offerings: 14 credit hours from the basic ROTC program MIL 100 and 200 level courses, and 20 credit hours from the advanced ROTC program MIL 300 and 400 level courses. First semester sophomores who did not take military science during the freshman year may compress the basic program during their sophomore year by taking a 100 level and a 200 level course (for 3-credit hours total) each semester. Students in the four-year program will attend MIL 250 Cadet Initial Entry Training (CIET)(Advanced Camp) upon approval from the Department.

Two-Year ROTC Program

This program option is designed for junior and sophomore level students who were unable to enroll in ROTC during their first two academic years. The two-year program substitutes a five-week Army leadership intern program at Fort Knox, Kentucky, for the MIL 100 and 200 level courses. This leadership orientation is designed for sophomores with no prior military training. Students should attend the Basic Camp between their sophomore and junior years (or receive credit after approval from the Professor of Military Science). Must receive Department approval to enter Two-Year Program.

Army Commission

In addition to military science courses, students desiring to obtain an Army commission must take at least one course in military history. Additionally, students must demonstrate a basic swimming ability.

All students seeking a commission must attend one five-week advanced training and assessment experiences in the summer between junior and senior years (Advanced Camp). Attendance may be deferred until after the senior year at the discretion of the Professor of Military Science. The Basic Camp and Advanced Camp are at Fort Knox, Kentucky. Additionally, students may compete throughout their time as a contracted cadet for selection to attend additional training at the Army Airborne School, Air Assault School, Northern Warfare School, Mountain Warfare School, or Combat Diver Qualification course. Cadets will have the opportunity to compete for internships with both army and foreign military units either in the continental United States or overseas.

Advanced Placement

Prior active duty service members, Army Reservists and National Guardsmen who have completed basic training are eligible for placement directly into the advanced ROTC program (last two years of military science) with the consent of the Professor of Military Science. Eligible students request permission from the Professor of Military Science to enter the advanced course.

Financial Assistance

U.S. Army ROTC Scholarship

Two-, three-, and four-year scholarships are available each year to selected students who are enrolled or will enroll in the Army ROTC program. The scholarships provide payment of all tuition, fees, a monthly tax-free payment of $420 for the duration of the scholarship, not to exceed ten months for each year of the scholarship, and a flat-rate book allowance of $600 each semester.

Monetary Allowances

Contracted students enrolled in the last two years of military science receive $420 per month during the school year, not to exceed ten months per year, and a flat rate book allowance of $600 each semester.

Fee Waiver

A limited number of tuition/fee waiver scholarships are awarded each semester to freshman and sophomore students who demonstrate the leadership ability to progress toward the advanced ROTC program. Interested students should see the Department Enrollment Officer for information.
